WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States should enact laws to establish and implement an effective, reliable, integrated, flexible, and comprehensive system that will alert and warn the American people in situations of war, terrorist attack, natural disaster, or other hazards to public health, safety and well-being, taking appropriate account of the functions, capabilities, needs of all people, the private sector and of all governments, so as to ensure that, under all conditions, universal communication is at all times and at all places available to warn the American people of imminent and impending dangers; and

WHEREAS, Congress should establish or adopt common alerting and warning protocols, standards, technology, and operating procedures that are effective without the necessity of maintaining a database of contact information (while protecting privacy of all Americans) and for the public alert and warning system to enable interoperability and the

1 secure delivery of coordinated messages to the American people through as many 2 communication pathways as practicable, utilizing today's technology so as to guarantee the 3 delivery of warnings and alerts in a timely manner to the entire population when surface 4 infrastructure does not exist, has been compromised, or otherwise rendered ineffective; and

5 WHEREAS, Congress should ensure the capability to adapt the distribution and 6 content of communications on the basis of clearly defined geographic locations, risks, or 7 personal user preferences, as appropriate; and

8 WHEREAS, Congress should provide that any public alert and warning system is 9 capable of alerting and warning all Americans, including those with disabilities and those 10 who lack an understanding of the English language, in the most remote geographic areas of 11 America and its territories; and

12 WHEREAS, Congress should, through cooperation with the owners and operators 13 of communication facilities, to maintain, protect, and, if necessary, restore communications 14 facilities and capabilities necessary for the public alert and warning system; and

15 WHEREAS, Congress should establish training, annual tests, and exercises for the 16 public alert and warning system, and provide for direct access thereto by appropriate federal, 17 state, local, tribal, territorial emergency personnel; and

18 WHEREAS, Congress should ensure the conduct of public education efforts so that 19 federal, state, territorial, tribal, local governments, the private sector, and the American 20 people understand the functions of the public alert and warning system and how to access, 21 use, and respond to information issued through all public alert and warning systems and 22 devices; and

23 WHEREAS, Congress should require all governments, federal, state, local, territorial, 24 and media communication organizations to consult, coordinate, and cooperate with the 25 private sector, including emergency response providers and users, as appropriate for the full 26 implementation of a state of the art early warning and alert system; and

27 WHEREAS, Congress should, in performing the functions set forth above, coordinate 28 with all appropriate departments and agencies of all governments referenced in this 29 Resolution.
